Guidelines for Students

It is hoped that by choosing to attend summer school, you will earn the credits you require and improve your ability to meet the demands of high school. A team of highly conscientious and caring teachers is ready to help you meet these goals. They have prepared a program of activities intended to assist you in achieving two objectives: Improving your mark in the course for which you have enrolled and giving you a positive start to the new school year. Guidelines for your personal success are outlined briefly below. We trust you will respond positively to them.

Attendance Matters: Summer school classes are intensive learning opportunities. Attendance is compulsory, and evaluation activities are scheduled every day. Parents/guardians will be notified of unexcused absences. Students may be withdrawn after three days of unexcused absence, without refund of fee.

Assignments/Assessments: You are expected to complete all assignments and assessments as scheduled by your teacher.

Code of Conduct: You are expected to follow the code of conduct established by River East Transcona School Division. To read the code of conduct please go to: <http://www.retsd.mb.ca/site/about/code.html>

You are expected to dress appropriately. Hats and beach clothing are not acceptable.

You are expected to refrain from smoking anywhere on school property.

You are expected to take care of textbooks and other instructional material or equipment allocated to you and return these items to your teacher at the conclusion of summer school.

Daily Routine: You will receive a five-minute break at approximately 9:30 a.m. each day. You are expected to remain on the school grounds during the break time.

In Case of Illness: In case you become ill at Summer School, you are expected to report first to your class teacher, then to the Summer School office. You should not leave the school without reporting to the Summer School office.

Personal Items: School lockers are not available. Cell phones and certain electronic devices cannot be used in the classroom.

You are responsible for the safekeeping of all personal items. Should you happen to lose any personal belongings (e.g. bicycle) you are responsible for notifying the appropriate authorities (police and your insurance company) immediately upon discovering the loss. Textbooks given to you for use during the Summer School must be returned in the same condition as you received them. Any damage or loss will necessitate reimbursement to the Summer School.
